

Good morning USA Volleyball family,

I am excited to share with you a new video that will be going live today across our digital media channels this afternoon at 3pm MT in support of the USA Volleyball community. In addition, we're spreading the message to ask every volleyball player, coach, official, etc. in the world to post a photo of themselves with a volleyball tomorrow, Friday May 1st (thanks for the idea, Cecile!).

One team. One community. One family.

Help us spread positive vibes across the volleyball community around the world by posting a picture of yourself with a volleyball tomorrow, Friday May 1! #USAVfamily #volleyon

Here is the link to download the video: Download #USAVfamily Video
There is a version with and without subtitles.

Please feel free to share across your own digital channels or keep an eye out to share, repost or retweet our post when it hits our account live this afternoon. We just ask that you wait to publish until the video hits our main social media accounts at 3pm MT. Also shoutout to my team for coordinating the content, our National Teams athletes for their participation, and especially Curtis Ward for his work in editing and producing the video the share with the world on a tight timeline.

Thank you, and GO USA!
