

As many of you have noticed, our annual pre-season clinic dates have been posted online: <https://www.ovr.org/officiating/clinics.php>. You need to be signed into your OVR account to sign up for one of the dates.

At this time, sign in and sign up! Assume things will be "normal" as you select your preferred attendance date.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Although we remain hopeful that in-person clinics will be possible this season, if circumstances do not change in the next six weeks or so, we're working on contingency plans to host clinics virtually. Clinic attendance will still be REQUIRED. There may be accompanying modules on the USAV Academy that need to be completed as part of the clinic requirement, along with rules & scoring exams.

I am open to recommendations for the delivery platform for the virtual clinics. Obviously GoToMeeting is an option, as well as Zoom and similar online video conference services. If you've had practical experience with a different platform or program during the past six months, and you think it might work for our purposes, please let me know. Ideally the platform would work well with video and/or PowerPoint presentations.

Thank you!

Brian
